

Cause & Effect Questions

Where will this lead? What if?

- If the earth had two moons opposite one another, would we no longer have tides?
- Do different colours affect people psychologically? If so, how?

Theoretical Questions

How did we get here?

- How did we end up with the legal system like the one we have?
- Why does the world exist?
- How did the whole world end up using the same form of music notation?

Values Questions

What's right? What do I believe?
What's important?

- Should people give money to people begging on the street?
- Do the needs of the many always outweigh the needs of the few?

Types of Questions

System Questions

How does this work?

- Is there a real system for winning poker, or is it just luck? Is it about math or psychology?
- How is the internet structured? Is it the same now as it was when it started? Is it sustainable?

Descriptive Questions

What happened? What is this?

- What is Enbridge? Why are people talking about it so much?
- When did World War I start? Who was in it? How did it end?
- What were the events that led up to Canada's confederation?